Customer Advisory – Fuel Price Volatility and Bunker Cost Monitoring

Dear Valued Customer,

Recent developments in global energy markets have led to sharp increases in global fuel and bunker prices.

Fuel is a key component of vessel operating costs. Swire Shipping is therefore monitoring fuel price movements closely and assessing their impact on our operations.

While no changes are being implemented at this stage, customers should be aware that continued fuel price increases may require review and adjustment of bunker-related charges to reflect prevailing market conditions.

Should this become necessary, we will communicate clearly and provide advance notice wherever possible.

We appreciate your understanding and will continue to keep you informed as the situation develops.

Yours sincerely,
Swire Shipping
